Education.

Rev. Father McGinley's Lecture at St. Patrick's Church Last Evening.

St. Patrick's church was well-filled last evening to hear a lecture on education, by Rev. Father McGinley, of St. Patrick's parish. The lecture was a very able one, from beginning to end, and was listened to throughout with deep interest. He commenced his lecture by saying that education taken in its widest sense—the education of the whole man, that is, of all his faculties, abilities and powers; of his body, of his mind, of his heart, and of his soul—were the gifts of the Creator by which man was originally constituted the masterpiece of the visible world, and by the culture of which he was and is destined to unfold or recover his royal dignity. By the structure and culture of his body, man stands the lord of the animal world, by the gifts and culture of his mind, he soars to the skies and is numbered with the angelic spirits; by the education of the heart, he becomes rational, good, humble, and devoted to his duties, while the training of the soul to pious practices, unites him to the divinity and consummates man's happiness and perfection.

Every step in the path of progress, every advance towards excellence, requires labor—labor and exercise of the body, labor of the intellect, energetic and persevering combats of the will against the inferior appetites; and finally labor to overcome temptation and co-operate with divine grace. God has made labor the universal law, by means of which alone man can attain even the partial development of the gifts bestowed on him. There is no place for the sluggard in the plan of the creation. Inaction is corruption and death; activity begets life, health and vigor.

With this understanding he spoke for thirty minutes in a most eloquent and convincing manner, arguing that they be given that early and pious instruction which only a mother can impart to her own offspring. Education in youth tends to make men strong, hardy and courageous. Aid the young man's natural propensity for athletic exercise, and he will shortly see no peril where others would tremble; imbue him to fatigue, and he will pass countless where others would succumb; make him dexterous in the use and management of many instruments of domestic utility, and you multiply his strength, his abilities, and his chances of honorable independence.

Make the most of his physical capacities, let him become strong, active, agile, able to endure cold and heat, hunger, thirst and toil, then show him that to be truly a man he must be honorable, upright and patriotic. You will then have a lion's strength and courage under the guidance of the noblest sentiments, and if an occasion present itself you will see him rise to the height and proportions of a hero. He argued at some length on this point, and closed with an appeal for the education of the religious faculty, the elevation of the soul from the natural elements of action to the regions of the supernatural; the harmonious co-ordination of the spirit with the will and promptings of the spirit of God. By the education of the heart the passions are tamed, vices eradicated, defects combated, and virtues planted in a generous soil. But this is not all; the Christian soul must be magnanimous, generous, expansive, loyal; she must ascend to heaven to take counsel with her Almighty Benefactor, then return to earth and concentrate all the powers and gifts she possesses to the glory and honor, and service of the Donor.

—The Chicago and Northwestern railway has decided to carry all persons to the republican state convention and the grand republican rally at Madison for $1.25 round trip.

—The second assembly district convention, composed of the five wards of this city and the towns of Janesville and Rock, will probably be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—The Blaine and Logan Invincibles held a special meeting this evening to take action upon the invitation to attend the grand republican rally in Madison on Wednesday. A full attendance is requested.

—Marshal Hogan had two Sunday drunks in court to-day, each being fined one dollar and costs, the costs amounting in each case to $3.92. In default of payment both were sent to jail, one for five days and the other for seven.

—St. Paul's Parochial School (German) opened to-day with sixty-five scholars. Rev. John H. O. Schler, principal, with Mr. John Zinck, lately of Baltimore, Maryland, as teacher. The school is located on School street, near Academy, fourth ward.

—Messrs. Webb & Hall have just received a large lot of beautiful new goods, among which are some very fine diamond earrings and other jewels, and a hand some gold G. A. R. badge or pin, which is the handsomest yet made. Call and see the new stock.

—The Evansville Enterprise: "We will give it up. The much talked-of man who pulled his cart through this place a short time since is a crank and a fraud, devoid of every atom of honesty. The commander of the post he claims to belong to has pronounced him a dead beat."

—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bailey, of Albion, N. Y., has been brightened by the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Bailey, whose home was in this city, will be recognized by her numerous friends as formerly Miss Myra A. Bliss. We extend hearty congratulations.

—Mrs. C. A. Hunt will begin her school on the 15th of September, in the old place in Myers' new block, on the west side. Her old pupils and others who closed to place themselves under her instruction, will please remember this. Mrs. Hunt's health, we are glad to say, has been very much improved by her trip east.

—Mr. John M. Bauman is to-day moving his family into the block recently purchased by him on North Main street, north of the Gazette office. Mr. Bauman has thoroughly overhauled the building from cellar to roof, and now has a handsomely furnished building, and a residence room enough to his business to be convenient.

—Remember the meeting of the Blaine and Logan Invincibles this evening, to make arrangements to attend the grand republican rally in Madison on Wednesday. All citizens who desire to go will please leave their names by Tuesday noon at Prentice & Evenson's drug store, or at R. W. King's bookstore, so that ample railroad accommodations may be provided. Fair for the round trip only $1.25.

—The school board held a special meeting on Saturday evening. Aside from instructing the building committee to sell the old fence now surrounding the high school building, no business of interest to the public was transacted. The repairs on the different school buildings were reported completed, or nearly so, and the clerk notified the board that all the teachers had sent in their written acceptance to positions assigned them by the board.

—The following from the Madison State Journal will be read with interest by many of our citizens, who are also waiting with much anxiety for the outcome of the pending negotiations: "Madisonians who use the telegraph to any extent are awaiting with some interest the final outcome of the rumors which are now in circulation to the effect that the Western Union has gained control of the new Bankers' and Merchants' line. It was hoped that the latter company would soon open an office in this city, as promised, and thus give our people the advantage which would necessarily be derived from competition in rates."

Sleepless nights and days of unrelenting agony are the unhappy lot of the victim of rheumatism. So great was the affliction of Mr. L. B. White, of North Granville, N. Y., that one of his limbs was shortened an inch. He began taking a bath in a few months ago, and now he looks like a new man. For more than two months, he says, he has been entirely free from pain. Mr. White's case has its parallel in every community where the great specific has been tried.

HOME AGAIN.

The Reception to the Rifles and Guards on Saturday Evening.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, the time set for the arrival of the Janesville Rifles and Bower City Rifles from Camp Alexander Mitchell, (Milwaukee), several thousand people, men, women and children, gathered at the St. Paul depot to cheer the militiamen upon their arrival, and escort them to their homes.

The train was delayed, and did not arrive until a quarter past nine o'clock. As the train bearing the military reached the depot, the members of the Janesville companies commenced firing Roman candles from the car windows, and treated the people to a very fine display of fireworks. At the depot the companies formed in line, headed by the Thoroughgood corn band, which had been in camp during the entire week, and marched down Milwaukee street, to the Guards' armory, where the reception exercises were held.

The sidewalks from the depot to the bridge on both sides of the street, were packed with people, and at several places red fire was burned, which added much to the appearance and life of the procession. The Guards and Rifles, and the band were taken immediately into the Guards' armory, where Mayor Richardson and ex-City Attorney E. M. Ayer addressed words of cheer and welcome to the citizen soldiers, at the close of which the band played an appropriate tune, and then it sat down to the well-laden tables which had been prepared by the ladies. The tables presented a very attractive and appetizing appearance, and all appreciated the hospitality of the ladies to the fullest extent.

After the tables had been partially cleared, Captain Doe, of the Guards, thanked the ladies for the kind reception given them, and related the experience of the Janesville companies in camp. Captain LaGrange, of the Rifles, was called out, but expressed his sentiments at the kind reception by ordering the Rifles to give three cheers for the ladies, which was given with a will. The Guards then gave an exhibition drill at their picked team and were frequently applauded.

—Surgeon-General Palmer explained in a brief manner the reason why the Guards failed to capture the first honor in the prize drill, which was owing to the condition of the ground, and some other things over which the company had no control. The party then broke up, all feeling well pleased and happy at the success of the impromptu reception given to our soldier boys.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla will cure your catarrh, and do away with that sickening odor of the breath.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer registered 55 degrees above zero. Clear with north wind.

At one o'clock p. m. the register was 75 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with west wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 62 and 86 degrees above zero.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 58 degrees above zero. Clear with north wind.

At one o'clock p. m. the register was 75 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 64 and 86 degrees above zero.

For bilious fevers and malarial disorders, use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Taken according to directions, its success is guaranteed.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from errors and indispositions of youth, nervous debility, early loss of manhood, and all the ills that result therefrom, I would send a group that will cure you.
